- If proof of purchase can't be provided, a warranty period start date may be assigned by TP-Link.
- The three digits that make up the second to fourth digits of the Serial Number (SN) represent the manufacturing date (year and month). For example, a product with SN: 2171XXXXXXXXXX, "171" represents the year of 2017 (17) and month of January (1). "17A" represents the year of 2017 (17) and month of October (A). - Customers who choose Advanced RMA will receive a pre-paid return label with the replacement to ship the defective product back to TP-Link USA Customer Service Center. Customers who choose Standard RMA are responsible for the shipping fee associated with returning of the defective product(s) to TP-Link USA Customer Service Center.

- Fees charged to Advanced RMA customers for failing to return defective products within the specified time are non-refundable.
- Advanced shipping times only apply to the transit of the replacement. All RMAs regardless of chosen method are subject to a processing period of up to 3 to 5 business days. The chosen method of delivery will be applied once the product has shipped.
- TP-Link USA is not responsible for any damages that may occur during shipping.
- TP-Link USA has no obligation to replace any products that are no longer covered under warranty. If TP-Link USA, in its sole and absolute discretion, chooses to replace your product that is not covered by warranty, TP-Link USA may charge a service fee.
