Great smell, nice and gentle

I have never bought a low-poo before, and wasn't sure what to expect. I like this, and alternate with Carol's Daughter shampoo wherever I feel like a deeper cleaning is necessary.

Drying and chemical scented

This product wasn't my fave. Pros: no cones, cruelty free, concentrated, lightweight Cons: left hair dry and strawlike, caused serious itching on scalp, left weird buildup, smells like Woolite with lemon added. Bottom line: I give up on Deva products. They are $$, have too much protein, and, too many unnecessary chemicals for use on sensitive skin My hair: 3a, low porosity, high density, mix of coarse and med/fine, over 40, no chemical treatments Full disclosure: I've had allergy issues with several Deva products.

Not for me

I was excited when devacurl released a line of products for wavy hair, but the product is no match for me. I bought the conditioner and the low-poo, together they make my hair greasy, and leads an even greater fight for my stubborn scalp. I also tried this product in two different seasons, because my hair is more oily in the summer. I tried it again in winter...and NOPE. Still too greasy. But at least it did not help my skin break out like in the summer. Notes to everyone: My hair is stubborn, coarse, thick 2C with high porosity.

Great for Low Porosity hair!

I have thin, low porosity, 2c/3a hair and this is great for me. The suds give me a nice clean scalp. This is the only shampoo I've used that actually moisturized my hair. I can derangle with this shampoo if I wanted to (I don't, I use conditioner lol but I could if I wanted to!). Because my hair is prone to dryness I use the decadence line conditioner which is not too heavy for my hair type and gives great moisture and slip. These two products are my holy grails!
