FAKE, DO NOT BUY

Reviewed in the United States on April 29, 2019

I have been using this conditioner for almost a year now and usually buy it in the store. This is NOT the correct conditioner. It is super watered down and does not do what the conditioner normally does for my hair. DO NOT BUY.

First time buying Redken, probably my last.

So I saw a lot of mixed reviews that said this is watered down and not real. Then some said it was the real deal. I decided to order it to up my hair game. I also purchased the smaller bottle of shampoo and the Redken One United. When it got delivered the cap was sealed so and I checked the batch number and it was still good. So yay! The consistency of the conditoner looks thick at first but then turns into liquid and not thick as some say its supposed to be. When I poured it into my hand it looked fine. But pressed it between my finger tips it vanished real fast into nothing. The first time I used it in conjunction with the shampoo my hair came out smoothish and shiny. My ends didn't feel as nourished as I thought they would be but then I thought maybe I didn't apply enough. As I kept using I noticed that my hair isn't as smooth anymore and my ends aren't nourished and are dry. I so used it with my Redken One United and still my ends were all dry, brittle, and easily knotted. Also my hair had a lot of stray aways -something a lot. Note that I ran the conditioner all through my hair and I even left it in my shower for a decent amount of time. I missed the return window for the shampoo and conditioner but I will be returning the One United. So sad I was excited to up my hair game. I took a pic and labeled the

 Review Update *****

I went over to my hair-dressed and casually mentioned to her that I'm really disappointed by this Redken (Though I really liked the red one). Turnes out that Redken has discontinued the production of this one - YEARS ago, and because they are not producing it anymore, most of the products that are sold are way beyond their expiration date. Went over my bath to see what is on the button of my products. Total DISSAPOINTMENT. Now it totally makes sense why the products felt so bad.

I feel like it really dissolves on the hair and is not thick enough. I feel like I need to use a ton of it because of it

I am extremely disappointed with Redken's new formula for their Extreme Conditioner. I am used to buying this in the largest bottle size since it was amazing and I used nothing else for years. Unfortunately, unbeknownst to me, Redken changed the formula on their conditioner before I ordered this gigantic bottle size, and it is extremely ineffective in comparison to the older formula. (The bottle proclaims that it is a new formula). With the original formula, I had to use

Aqua/Water, Cetearyl Al
Phenoxyethanol, Parfurr
Behentrimonium Metho:
Dimethicone Peg-7 Pant
Benzoate, Arginine, 2-Ol
Propyl Silanetriol, Sodi

because it was so incredibly moisturizing and rich. It was expensive but worth it. THIS formula is completely different and after five months of using it, it has left my hair dry, lackluster, and frizzy. Whereas before, I had to be careful to wash it off pretty fast or risk making my hair too oily, I can put gobs of the stuff my hair for several minutes before washing it off, and my hair doesn't feel moisturized in the slightest after I dry it. I even cut off seven inches of hair around the time I ordered it, and my hair is shoulder length, which should make it easier to keep moisturized due to its proximity to the scalp. This moisturizer is a waste of money, and I am certainly not going to be purchasing Redken's new formula again. If you're used to the old formula like I was, beware -- don't spend all this money on a giant bottle of conditioner and expect it to be of the same quality.

Brand name products on Amazon aren't the real deal

Reviewed in the United States on March 14, 2021

Verified Purchase

The scent is overwhelming and terrible like bad perfume. Doesn't moisturize at all. Basically every brand name product I've ordered on Amazon is a fake. Paul Mitchell and Redken are no exception. I've bought their products but not when you buy them on Amazon. I'm done trying! It's all a waste of money. Buy from a salon if you want the real deal.
